

Fondo Gippi Cavallotti

Description

Succeeding in getting a diploma is an important goal for young students. However, the demand for qualified personnel and the enlargement of the global market makes almost indispensable further studies in order to become competitive in the job market.

Our father knew it well.

As a university professor, he has always worked hard to modernize his courses; he systematically attended national and international scientific meetings in order to have continuous intellectual challenges; he cooperated with many galvanic industries so much to become the president of an organization grouping them together (AIFM, Italian Association for Metal Finishing). All of this to help young people getting better introduced in the job market. To continue his mission, we decided to establish the Gippi Cavallotti fund.

This fund is meant to help young and worthy people willing to face up university studies despite limited resources. We strongly believe that supporting students through the Gippi Cavallotti fund means bringing profit to the whole community.
